Special Acknowledgements

The curtain rose and there we were, center stage and in the spotlight: our high school debut. To Mrs. Houle, who put up with the drama and dress rehearsals of our class for four years as our advisor, we express our sincerest thanks. Thank you to Ms. Mich, who cheered us on during Acts I and II, and also countless expressions of gratitude to Mrs. Notaro for her support from Act III to our final curtain call at graduation. Without the backstage voices of our class advisors nearly all of our class activities would have been impossible. Another special thanks to Mr. Garrity: without him our program – Memorabilia – would not have been composed so meticulously. Finally, we send our appreciation to every other member of the Clinton High School staff who made our performance a success.

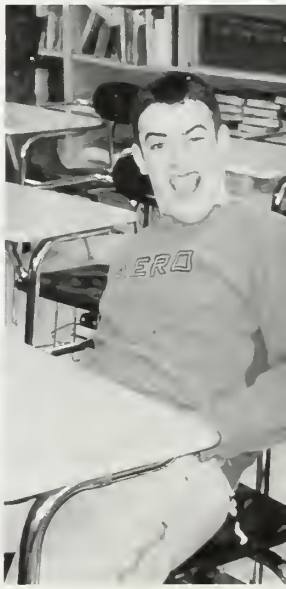
Act I – Freshman Year

As we started our first year at CHS, we made choices that would influence our future. However, as timid freshmen, the only journey we could think of making was that first passage through the hallways. We celebrated our newfound independence by voting Tim Kulis as president, Andy Pierce as vice-president, Kali Hogan as treasurer, and Gena Bevilacqua as secretary. Our class advisors, Mrs. Houle and Mrs. Michalopoulos, headed our fundraisers. Many of us participated in the show with Frank Santos, Jr., who hypnotized us into doing embarrassing acts. We proved that we were good sports by wearing our "DIRT" shirts to the spirit week rally, and we gave the junior girls stiff competition during the Powderpuff game. When June arrived, we were ready to make the transition from being the "DIRT" of the school to becoming the "Cream of the Crop."



Act II – Sophomore Year

During our sophomore year our class advisors were Mrs. Michalopoulos and Mrs. Houle. To help us through the year we elected Tim Kulis for president, Kaitlyn O'Connell for treasurer, Marjorie Frias-Almonte for vice-president, and Gena Bevilacqua for secretary.

The year was filled with fundraisers such as the show by the hypnotist Frank Santos, Jr. and the sale of numerous candy bars. Although we finished last in the Spirit Week competition, we won the class officers race, placed second in the tug of war, and dominated in the obstacle course. We were all worried about MCAS, but everything went well, and we ended the year ready to jump to the position of upper classmen.

Act III – Junior Year

As junior year began, we could finally call ourselves upper classmen. With new privileges we also had many new responsibilities. Our class advisors, Susan Notaro and Michele Houle, planned many fundraisers for our highly anticipated Homecoming and Prom. From selling poinsettias and Butter Braids to throwing a Welcome Dirt Dance, we were busy fundraising all year. Many of these events would not have been possible if it was not for the hard work of our class officers, President Anique Pender, Vice-president Kaitlyn O'Connell, Secretary Gena Bevilacqua, and Treasurer Bridget Burgoyne.

Act IV – Senior Year

On September 1, 2004, we officially entered the Clinton High School as Seniors. We elected Ian Bashaw as President, Chadd Baer as Vice President, Gena Bevilacqua as Secretary, and Bridget Burgoyne as Treasurer. As we rushed to fill our applications, our final months turned into weeks, and the weeks quickly became days. We made important decisions about where the future would bring each of us. Senior week began on Tuesday, May 31, with our class trip to High Meadows Resort in Connecticut, followed by Baccalaureate on June 1, and Senior Banquet on June 2 a the Wachusett Country Club. June 4 finally arrived. As we wrapped up our final day of production as the cast of 2005, we became proud graduates of Clinton High School and unforgettable co-stars in each other's lives.

Ain't No Mountain High Enough

Homecoming was held at the Clinton Town Hall on November 22, 2002. Katie Kilcoyne was crowned queen, and Andy Cruz was king. When our song, "Ain't No Mountain High Enough" played, our entire class took to the dance floor. Even though the DJ played the wrong version of the song and our black, maroon, and silver balloons were the wrong color, Homecoming proved to be a great start to junior year.

Starlight Dreams

On May 8, 2004, the most anticipated night of our Junior Year took place. As we arrived at the Manor in West Boylston, dresses of every color filled the dance floor. Even though the DJ forgot to play our class song, "There You'll Be" by Faith Hill, we still danced the night away. Steven Soldi and Sarah Irvine were named our Prom King and Queen. When the dance ended, the festivities continued at our After-Prom Party at the YMCA in Westboro where we went rock climbing, swimming, moon bouncing, and made memories to last a lifetime.

One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest

Everyone knows that the most important event in Spirit Week is the tug of war. As seniors we dominated the competition by easily defeating all the other classes in the event and reminded the class of '06 that "There's always next year." Although our class found less success in many of the other events, we found great enjoyment in reminding the underclassmen that '05 would rather have fun. The theme for Spirit Week was "Spank the Tigers," but our class found our own motto: "It's OK to be last." As we entered the rally following the Green Machine, we showed our pride one last time and proved that if the Spirit Week winners were judged on having a good time, then we would be the indisputable champs.

Winter Wonderland

Our final dance as high school students occurred on March 19, 2005. The senior hop was held at the Town Hall under the theme "Winter Wonderland." Colleen O'Malley and Migisha Hume took the crowns for Hop Queen and King. We danced, laughed, and smiled all night, and each of us got a commemorative mug!

Excel

The Excel Club under the direction of Mr. Terrance Ingano was created in 1996 to provide students with service opportunities in the community. This year Rebecca Jimenez was elected President; Hazel Suero, Vice-President; Lauren Kilcoyne, Secretary; and Chadd Baer, Treasurer. The club grew to 130 members, the largest in club history, and the only such club in all of New England. Some of the activities included a Halloween Party at the Strand Theater that raised $850 for the Item Appeal, parties for the elderly at the Corcoran House, a food drive that netted 700 pounds of food for WHEAT, collecting 50 shoeboxes (with the National Honor Society) for Operation Christmas Child, a month-long bake sale for the Tsunami Relief Fund that raised $500, and the Annual Spring Social for Senior Citizens.

"Excel"-lent effort

While so many children and teens were looking at how much they could get for Halloween, Clinton High School's Excel Club was looking to give back.

In addition to lending their spirit to Corcoran House's candlelight dinner Thursday night, many members of the club also wanted to find a way to entertain the town's children, while raising money for a good cause.

When the club found out the Police Union was not running its annual party for the town's children, members decided to run their own. Working with the staff of the Historic Strand Theater, the Exchange Club (the Excel Club's adult sponsors) and the Patrolman's Union, the group staged a Halloween party Sunday afternoon, complete with ghost stories, costume contests and pumpkin decorating.

According to advisor Terry Ingano, about 250 people attended the party, raising over $800 for the Item Appeal.

The Appeal is a locally-based charity that collects money from people in the towns of Clinton, Berlin, Bolton, Boylston, Lancaster and Sterling. Then, 100 percent of the money goes back to help people in those six communities with the basics of life, including food, medicine and heat.

Joanne Blodgett, owner of the Strand, and her staff have long supported the Item Appeal. With the help of the Excel Club, this $800 will help in a year that promises to be a tough one for local residents, some of whom will have to decide between food, heat and medicine, just to make it through the winter.

Thanks to the staff of the Strand, the members of the Excel Club and those who took the time to take part in Sunday's event, there will be more help available.

Eurotrip

On February 17, 2005, nineteen seniors and four chaperones boarded a bus and headed to Logan Airport where they caught a plane to Spain. For the following ten days they traveled across the southern parts of Spain, visiting the biggest cities and the best attractions. The crew met their tour director, Roberto, in Madrid where they spent the next two days of the trip, touring places like the Prado Museum and the Royal Palace. The group then made a one-day trip by bus through Cordoba to Seville. They again re-packed their bags and headed to Costa del Sol where the travelers spent a full day shopping and lounging on the beach side in Marbella. Finally, the tourists stayed in Granada to see the Alhambra, made a stop in Toledo to visit more cathedrals, and then closed the trip with another full day in Madrid. The students had an exciting time and each day brought new jokes and closer friendships. They will never forget the laughs they shared about the other tour groups as well as the fun they had playing 'Murder Mystery' and checking out the nightlife in Spain.

The team was led by Michaela Quill and Maria zaro. Under the direction of Janet Carey the team worked hard and with only two seniors, the squad looks for solid im- ovement next year. Junior April Smith earned All Star status for her fine play.

Cross-country returned as a varsity sport after an absence of several years due to the dedication of Co-Captains Chadd Baer and Jerey Clark. Seniors Kevin Carlsen, Matt Bont, and Ian Bashaw also contributed greatly. The team made its first appearance at the Mayor's Invitational held at Franklin Park in Boston. The final record under Coach Mark Allard was 2 and 6, and they finished sixth in the league meet. With many underclassmen returning next year, a better season is expected.

The Big Green

After struggling in years past, the Lady Gaels soccer squad, under the direction of Coach Bill Winn, qualified for the District tournament for the second consecutive year. With a record of 9-5-2 the Lady Gaels finished the season in third place, following rivals Littleton and West Boylston. Unfortunately, the team's end-of-season winning streak came to a close in the tournament when they fell short in a 6-2 loss to Auburn High. The highlight of the season came when the girls stepped it up and nearly defeated West Boylston in their best game of the season.

Senior captains Courtney Laverdure and Kaitlyn O'Connell led the defense with other great contributions coming from Shanna Gadoua and Allison Miller. Captain Kelly De Leo and junior Marybeth Ball led the offense, while Jillian Zafirs, Erin Peete, and Nicole Ramig hustled in the midfield. Senior Amanda Cummings had a great year with six shutouts as goalkeeper. Also displaying great spirit and passion were seniors Colleen Gates, Amanda Mello, and Katie Kilcoyne. Senior Krystal Minnicucci ably managed the team.

Chosen as Mid Wach Division D All-Stars this year were Marybeth Ball, Kelly De Leo, and Kaitlyn O'Connell. Kelly De Leo was picked for Central Mass All-Stars and was invited to play in the Senior Bowl.

Field of Dreams

The Field Hockey team had a great 2004 season, with a school record of 12-3-3. The team was led by senior captains Anique Pender, Sarah Irvine, Ciara Figueroa, and Stacy McNally. The Lady Gaels' offense led by Figueroa, McNally, and juniors Ally Mack, Jenna Cardoza, and Ashley Gordon, scored a total of 58 goals. Seniors Pender and Jessica Gordon, and juniors Sissy Irvine and Nora Boisneau controlled the passing at midfield while senior defensive players Irvine, Jennifer Rodriguez, and goalie Alyse Santoro, as well as juniors Lauren Kilcoyne and Courtney Ball allowed only 19 goals over the season. The highlight of the year was a game winning goal by Mack with three seconds remaining against Littleton. The team advanced in the districts and became the first team in the school's history to win a game in the first round, with their 4-1 victory over Auburn. Santoro, Pender, Irvine, Mack, and Gordon were named Mid Wach C All Stars. The season ended when the Lady Gaels were defeated for the third time by Narragansett, in the second round of the tournament. However, the team and its seniors, playing in their final game, walked off the field ecstatic over their successful season.

Friday Night Lights

As the Gaels' football team returned from last year's discouraging season, they were determined to improve. The son opener against archrival Nashoba gave the Gaels their most important victory of the season by a 14-7 score. The team, under the leadership of quad-captains Brian Winn, Drew Lyons, Chris Lavelle, and Steve Soldi, found much p from underclassmen since there were only four returning starters. Entering the last two weeks of the season, the els needed at least one victory to insure a winning season. The game against West Boylston started with the Lions ring first. The Gaels got their first touchdown in the third quarter from running back Chris Nieves. In the fourth arter, as time expired, Drew Lyons drove into the snow capped endzone for the game winning touchdown. The Gaels ended the season with a devastating 27-20 loss to Maynard on Thanksgiving Day. At the concluding cer- ony the defensive player of the game was awarded to Brendon McGovern, MVP of the year was Drew Lyons, MVP of game was Chris Nieves, and the offensive player of the game was Chris Lavelle. The Gaels, while not having their atest season, made a dramatic improvement. Congratulations to Drew Lyons and Jeremy Parker for making the ntral Mass Division III All-Star team.

The team came very close to returning to the Districts, missing only by one game and finishing with an 8-10-2 cord. There were several highlights during the season including a 7-3 win over Fitchburg and a 3-3 tie with a highly vored Hudson squad. This was the first time in four years that the team took a point from Hudson.

The team needed to win its final three games, but lost in the next to last game of the year to Gardner. It was the team's ost physical contest and was not decided until an open net goal as time expired. This year was a far cry from the niors' first year where they didn't register a win. Bryan Klinkhamer received the 2005 Sportsmanship Alliance of assachusetts Hockey Award for the league player who best exemplifies fair play and Sportsmanship.

Robots

Six weeks of hard work seemed to last a lifetime as members of Gael Force eagerly prepared for competition. The long hour and dedication paid off for Team 126 as they took home two regional wins and two team awards before heading to the nationa challenge in Atlanta, Georgia.

From March 3-5, Team 126 competed in the Manchester regional where they were ranked fifth out of fifty-one teams However, before they were able to choose their own alliance, the team was picked by the first seeded Rhode Warriors from Rhod Island and joined by Timberlane Regional from New Hampshire. This alliance moved steadily through the competition. Shortl after receiving trophies and medals as Regional Champions, the team was selected for the Engineering Inspiration Award. Thi is the second highest award given by FIRST. It recognizes a team for its outstanding efforts to advance respect and appreciatio for engineering through student recruitment, community outreach, and overall success of the team.

The following week, Team 126 competed in the New England regional in Hartford. Ranked fourth of thirty-five teams, they were quickly selected by the team from Quincy, Massachusetts, and joined by the group from Wolcott, Connecticut. This alliance showed strength throughout the competition. With this second regional win came another award. The Motorola Quality Award reflects a team which brings a powerful robot to the playing field, keeps an organized pit area, and shows a strong partnership through the quality and excellence of its machine.

Finishing two competitions with an impressive record of 28-5-2, Team 126's success has already exceeded expectations.

With two regional victories completed, Team 126 looked forward to the National Championship Event in the Georgia Dome tlanta, Georgia. A total of 340 teams competed, making up four divisions and traveling from around the world to attend this rnational event. Gael Force finished the qualifying rounds with a 4-3-0 record, seeding them thirty-fifth out of eighty-five ms in the Galileo division. Not in a position to choose its own alliance, the team happily accepted the invite of the group ded third, High Voltage from Pasadena, Texas, and was joined by a squad from Atlanta, Georgia. After reaching the rterfinals, the dream ended as the alliance was unfortunately eliminated.

Before leaving Georgia, the team enjoyed a dinner at Atlanta's Hard Rock Café and a day of relaxation and fun at Stone untain Park. Even without a national win, Gael Force students and mentors returned to Clinton proud of another successful r and as the first team in the history of the Clinton/Nypro partnership to bring home two gold medals.

Head of the Class

On May 17, 2005, CHS held the fifty-fifth annual National Honor Society induction. Alyse Santoro, the historian, was the Mastor of Ceremonies, and Riley Gannon lit the Flaming Torch. Other speakers were Matt Bont, who explained character, Sarah Irvine, who discussed scholarship, Chris Lavelle, who addressed leadership, and Gena Bevilacqua, who defined service. Mr. Gaw, Mr. Hastings, and Mrs. Cotton, Rotary Club President, also made remarks that inspired the participants.

As the ceremony came to an end, the seniors headed to Chocksett Inn where Gordon Lankton, from NYRPO, advised the seniors to "Never, never give up."

Dazed and Confused

The day that many of us anticipated for years finally arrived on May 27, 2005. For some, it was a day of sadness because we were leaving our home of the past twelve years. For others, it was a joyous occurrence to leave the rules and books behind.

To our parents, guardians, teachers, and friends we say thank you for your help and assistance through these sometimes difficult years. Our time at CHS was over, but we will remember these years for the rest of our lives. The end of the beginning was here.

Baccalaureate, held on June 1, was the st time that we gathered together essed in our caps and gowns. Mr.
seph Sawyer, Class of '86, spoke to us out his memories of Clinton, and he spired us to remember our senses:
mor, thoroughness, place, and longing. Although the Power Point ze, and we messed up the class song,
r parents were proud of our accom-ishments. After the ceremony we joyed cake and punch with our milies.

Hey, Dude!

On the cloudy morning of May 31, the senior class boarded our buses and headed for the High Meadow Dude Ranch in Connecticut. By the time we arrived the sun was shining, and we were ready for a good time. With unlimited free food, swimming, music, rock climbing, and daylong sporting events, it was difficult to just stand around. We had a great time watching the hypnotist show and running the obstacle course, as well as mini-golfing and lounging by the pool. The day concluded when the clouds opened up, and we headed for the buses in the downpour.

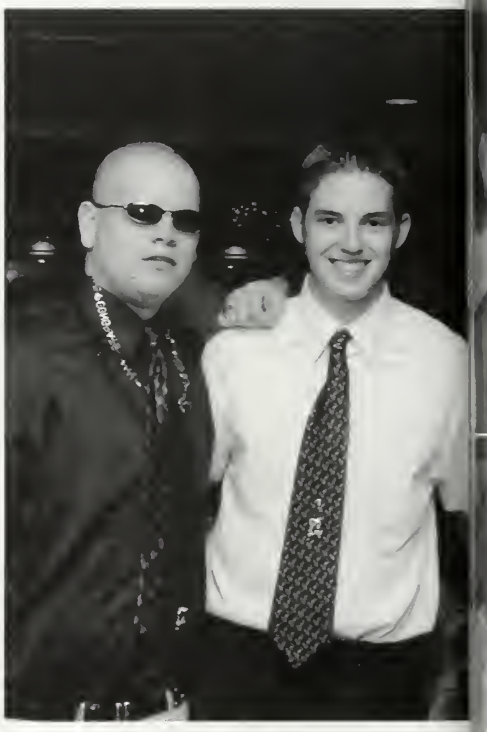
A Farewell Dinner

On the beautiful evening of June 2, one of the most anticipated events of Senior Week became a reality as we made our way to the Wachusett Country Club for our last official dance and dinner.

The meal was delicious, the music was upbeat, and everyone had a great time. We concluded the night with our class song, "Lean on Me," singing it better than we had ever before. We all realized that one of our most important days was quickly approaching.



Final Curtain

The curtain came to a close on June 4, 2005, when we finally threw our caps in celebration of our excellent performance. Kevin Carlsen added Irish flavor to the ceremony with his bagpipe. While we baked in the sun, we listened to Mr. Gaw and Mr. Hastings as they reflected on our production and gave us advice for our future. Class President Ian Bashaw gave the class gifts, and Valedictorian Chris Lavelle and High Honors students Kelly De Leo, Tim Kulis, and Gena Bevilacqua provided us with words of wisdom. Our final curtain showed that we departed with class.

Rebecca: Look it was yesterday when God gave me the blessing of having you, and this year you are already finishing high school and starting a new path in your life. Becky, remember that every day brings with it the miracle of a new beginning; this is a new beginning for you. Many of the moments may be marvelously disguised as ordinary days, but each one of us has the opportunity to do something extraordinary out of them. Remember tomorrow is a beautiful day that will take you right where you want to go if you do the right thing in the right moment. Do your best, be happy to be the wonderful, unique, very special person that you are. Try hard, work hard that a wonderful, successful life is waiting for you.

My sincerest thanks to Kelly, Brian, Luciana, Kaitlyn, and Anique for your outstanding effort in compiling this memory for your classmates. You were my smallest class ever, but many of you worked above and beyond your responsibilities. I am sure that your successes here are minor compared to those in your future.
